

Sea Captains' Row

Mary-Ann Agresti + Jackie Reeves

Sea Captains' Row highlights the rich history of this dynamic neighborhood, established by prominent sea captains and their families in the 1800's. Their spirit of exploration and vision for prosperity influenced the region's development. The image highlights the architectural styles and innovations of that time.

The visitor is invited to stand with the painted figures and silhouettes and be a part of the mural. Post your photos on #seacaptain.barnstable

Mary-Ann Agresti AIA is an artist, architect and educator, with a studio in Hyannis. Her work ranges from letterpress artist books to public art installations and university libraries. At all scales of expression and in a wide range of medium, she continuously explores the relationship between human factors, layers of meaning and personal experience.

Jackie Reeves is a Canadian born Cape Cod artist who uses drawing, painting and collage to bring together figurative and abstract elements in her work. Her artistic career began as a professional mural painter. She later earned her MFA at MassArt and exhibits and teaches throughout the region.
